■ DECLARATION

Taking responsibility for our homeland of Austria we hereby confirm once again:

The Austrian Freedom Party is unreservedly committed to the Republic of Austria and to the furthering of democracy, parliamentarianism and the rule of law. Europe is important to us, Austria is in our hearts. Our German language and cultural community is part of our homeland just as much as all indigenous minorities.

We reject all forms of violence, totalitarianism and racism. We aim to ensure peace, self-determination and freedom. In this context we acknowledge that all human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights.

We feel particularly responsible for rejecting anti-Semitism. We condemn all incidents and manifestations in this regard. These have no place in our society.

We not only reject extremism, but also want to fight against all of its forms with democracy, rule of law and arguments. In particular we want to take a stand against imported anti-Semitism, and against any form of extremism which is fuelled by radical Islam and is spreading increasingly throughout Europe.

We shall never forget the dark chapters of Austrian history, and we unambiguously reject any trivialisation of National Socialism.

We are indebted to Austria and all Austrian citizens who are prepared to make their own contribution towards a good future in our homeland. In red-white-red solidarity we advocate a mutual and flourishing future in peace, freedom, respect and prosperity.
